"Do It To-Day."

The time-worn injunction, "Never put off 'til to-morrow what you can do to-day," is now generally presented in this form: "Do it to-day!" That is the terse advice we want to give you about that hacking cough or demolishing cold with which you have been struggling for several days, perhaps weeks. Take some reliable remedy for it to-day—and let that remedy be Dr. Boschree's German Syrup, which has been in use for over thirty-five years. A few doses of it will undoubtedly relieve your cough or cold, and its continued use for a few days will cure you completely. No matter how deep-seated your cough, even if dread consumption has attacked your lungs, German Syrup will surely effect a cure—as it has done before in thousands of apparently hopeless cases of lung trouble. New trial bottles, 25c; regular size, 75c. At all druggists.—W. T. Brooks.

Good Spirits.

Good spirits don't all come from Kentucky. Their main source is the liver—and all the fine spirits ever made in the Blue Grass State could not remedy a bad liver or the hundred and one ill effects it produces. You can't have good spirits and a bad liver at the same time. Your liver must be in fine condition if you would feel buoyant, happy and hopeful, bright of eye, light of step, vigorous and successful in your pursuits. You can put your liver in fine condition by using Green's August Flower—the greatest of all medicines for the liver and stomach and a certain cure for dyspepsia or indigestion. It has been a favorite household remedy for over thirty-five years. August Flower will make your liver healthy and active and thus insure you a liberal supply of "good spirits." Trial size, 25c; regular bottles, 75c. At all druggists.—W. T. Brooks.

Steam Bailer.

I am prepared to bail hay, straw, etc., at reasonable terms. I have the best steam bailer in Central Kentucky and can do the work right. Your patronage solicited.

THE SMOOT HEARING.

President Smith, of the Mormon Church, on the Stand.

He Said He Adhered Absolutely to All the Teachings of the Church Regarding Divine Revelations and Still Believes in Polygamy.

Washington, March 3.—An effort to air the innermost secrets of the Mormon faith was manifested in the first day's proceedings before the senate committee on privileges and elections, which is investigating the protests against Reed Smoot retaining his seat as a senator from Utah. President Joseph D. Smith, the highest official of the church, was on the stand all day. He was questioned closely in regard to the principles of divine revelations. He said he adhered absolutely to all the teachings of the church in that regard and that he himself had been visited with divine inspirations from God directing him as to doings in matters pertaining to the welfare of the church, though no angels had come to him as in the case of revelation to his uncle, Joseph Smith, Jr., the founder of the church. He subscribed to the standard of authority for the church in relation to the revelation commanding polygamy as made known to the first president from an "angel in black."

He also said he still believed in polygamy.

Washington, March 4.—Attorneys for the protestants in the Smoot investigation said they intended to prove that the defendant is associated with a hierarchy which practices polygamy and connives at violations of the law and that his very vote as a senator of the United States is subject to the wish and command of the Mormon church. President Joseph D. Smith confessed that he himself had continued to cohabit with his plural family since the manifesto of 1890 and that he realized fully that he was violating state laws. President Smith also testified that Reed Smoot had to get the consent of his associated apostles in the church before he could become a candidate for senator.

Mr. Smith, in answer to questions by Chairman Burrows, declared he had performed no polygamous marriages since 1890 anywhere on earth. Mr. Dubois asked if any of the apostles had performed such service and Mr. Smith said if they had they would have been fined and imprisoned if found guilty and if the charge could be proved the offender would be excommunicated.

The celestial marriage, or the marriage for eternity, Mr. Smith said, was one of the things the Mormon church believed in, but the practice had been in disuse for 20 years or more. This marriage was described as one to carry two persons through Heaven in happiness and that often was performed when one party was dead and some times when both parties were dead. In that event the relatives of the contracting parties represented them. When questioned closely Mr. Smith admitted that a man and woman, both living, were sometimes married for "eternity."

Washington, March 5.—Interest in the investigation before the senate committee on privileges and elections of the protests against Senator Reed Smoot, of Utah, was unabated Friday. President Joseph M. Smith, who again was on the stand, testified that if the principle of plural marriage should be attacked it would be defended by the church. Considerable feeling was evidenced by President Smith against individuals, who, he said, had spied on the domestic and marital relations of the high officials of the Mormon church, and for that reason he had favored the passage of the Evans bill to prevent prosecutions for polygamous cohabitation, unless complaints were entered by husband or wife against the other. This bill was passed, but vetoed by the governor of Utah.

It was brought out that all of Mr. Smith's predecessors, as president of the Mormon church, had been polygamists and that the man chosen to succeed him has more than one wife.

Mr. Smith was asked which he would obey, the law of the land or revelations from God, if the two were in conflict. He said he might obey the revelation, though it was not compulsory. He added: "I should not like to be put in a position where I would have to desert my children—I could not do that."

Mr. Smith testified that the law making polygamous cohabitation a crime was passed by the Utah territorial legislature, which was overwhelmingly composed of Mormons, and that the constitutional convention was composed of a large majority of Mormons.

Gov. Vardaman Commended.

Jackson, Miss., March 3.—The legislature adopted a resolution commending burnings at the stake and commending Gov. Vardaman for his prompt action in preventing a lynching last Saturday.

World Championship Match.

Paris, March 5.—M. Vignaux, French billiardist, defeated George Sutton, American player, in the world championship match, 18-inch balk line, one shot in 500 points. Sutton had obtained only 377 when Vignaux went out.

Horses and Mules For the Philippines.

San Francisco, March 5.—The transport Dix arrived here Friday from Portland. As soon as the hold can be fitted with stalls the vessel will take a consignment of horses and mules to the Philippines.

FOR VICE PRESIDENT.

Senator Fairbanks Will Accept If He Receives the Nomination.

Washington, March 5.—It was learned Friday night that Senator Fairbanks will not resist a movement to make him the vice presidential nominee of the republican party. If the convention nominates him he will accept. More than that, he will not attempt to discourage efforts looking to his nomination.

It is only fair to say that no explicit declaration by Senator Fairbanks to that effect has been made. The Indiana delegation in congress was convinced Friday that Senator Fairbanks had yielded to the solicitation of men high in the councils outside of Indiana to take second place on the national ticket.

Almost without exception his closest political friends in Indiana have advised him, in his own interest, against accepting the vice presidency. Influential republicans in the senate, such men as Spooner, Allison and Platt, have urged him to take it, on the ground that he would strengthen the republican ticket, especially in financial circles, and that his first duty is to his party rather than to his own political future.

THE CRUISER DENVER.

Her Preliminary Trip Was Very Satisfactory.

Philadelphia, March 5.—After a preliminary trial trip off the Delaware breakwater, in which she attained an average speed greater than that required by her contract, the cruiser Denver returned to anchor off the yard of her builders, Neale & Levis, late Friday. Satisfaction with the vessel's performance was expressed by the company's officers and the government's experts who were on the trip.

One of the officials of the company said the Denver attained a speed of 18.8 knots and an average of somewhat more than the 17 knots called for in the contract with the government.

The cruiser is now complete with the exception of painting, and when her official trial trip takes place the vessel will be ready to be turned over to the government.

THEY DEMAND DAMAGES.

Suits Aggregating $300,000 Entered Against the Vincinator Mine Co.

Cripple Creek, Col., March 5.—Damage suits aggregating $300,000 growing out of the recent conspiracy cases against Sherman Parker, Thomas Foster and W. F. Davis, union leaders, were filed against F. J. Campbell, principal owner of the Vincinator mine, Friday. Campbell swore to the complaints against the men. After a trial lasting nearly two weeks the defendants in the conspiracy cases were acquitted. They now demand damages from Campbell.

RURAL MAIL CARRIERS.

Measure Introduced to Permit Them to Engage in Other Business.

Washington, March 5.—Senator Alger introduced an amendment to the post office appropriation bill amending the provision inserted by the house prohibiting rural carriers from engaging in other business, so that carriers may carry articles authorized by law not authorized to be accepted for mailing; also to make contracts with publishers to distribute newspapers and periodicals upon which one rate of postage has been paid.

THE ASIATIC FLEET.

Annual Record Target Practice Has Been Completed.

Washington, March 5.—Adm. Evans telegraphs the navy department that the annual record target practice of the battleships and cruisers of the Asiatic fleet has been completed. The best single scores made were as follows: In 11 minutes and 20 seconds the best 13-inch gun of the Wisconsin made nine hits, the Oregon six hits and the Kentucky five hits. The best 5-inch gun of the Kentucky made 11 hits in two minutes.

Charles C. Whitney's Sudden Death.

New York, March 5.—Charles Carroll Whitney, for 25 years secretary of the New York Life Insurance Co., died suddenly Friday of heart disease while on his way from his office to his home in Brooklyn. Mr. Whitney was 71 years old.

When the civil war broke out Mr. Whitney was in charge of the only telegraph office in Indianapolis. Later he worked under Secretary of the Treasury New, of President Lincoln's cabinet.

Portable Churches on Wheels.

St. Petersburg, March 5.—The Grand Duchess Elizabeth Feodorovna, wife of Grand Duke Serge Alexandrovitch, the czar's uncle, has persuaded the government to send a number of portable churches on wheels to the far east to attend to the spiritual needs of the troops.

Elias A. McQuade, a reporter of Manchester, N. H., published certain statements in his paper. A party interested demanded the source of his information, which Mr. McQuade, of course, refused to give. He was then summoned into court, but respectfully informed Judge Peaslee that the unwritten law of his profession forbade him to do as requested. Just what the court would have decided is not known, for at this juncture his honor obtained the desired information from another source.

A BICYCLE PROPOSAL.

BY JOHN WICKLIFFE GRAY.

Until that summer I had never believed that I was a timid man. But the happenings of a few weeks led me to the conclusion that I had my share and more.

A girl with blue eyes did it. As in most cases where a man has found himself face to face with himself, it was a woman who held the mirror.

It was the old story of scouting at love until I met the one girl, and then I wanted to propose. But what with the doubts that assailed me as to the probable reception of a proposal, and my new-born timidity, I could never gather together sufficient courage at the proper time to give expression to the thoughts that kept me awake at night. I carefully formulated plan after plan to rid my mind of its burden, but one after another they came to naught through my disgusting shyness—cowardice, if you will. I am half inclined to believe that Beatrice knew my condition all the time. But she had a keen sense of humor, and I dreaded that silvery laughter more than a whole regiment of regulars. She could grow serious in a moment, and it was this mood I liked best. But, until that sunny day, when my bicycle helped me through, I had always missed the point. It lacked but four days of my departure from the springs, and I knew to delay might mean to fail altogether.

Delay and defeat were the words that hummed through my brain like a sputtering wheel as we spun down the lane that morning. We were out after an early breakfast, and on that short journey a wheel I had determined to throw all my chances in the balance and find their intrinsic worth. Just how I was going to begin I had not determined, and I thought that for once I would leave the matter open for the seizure of the first opportunity.

The morning air was crisp and cool. The roadside flowers seemed nodding us a cheery good morning in the light breeze. Now and then from the trees came the call of a bird, and making a shiny black streak in the air, a crow would bend his flight to a lonely tree in the fields, calling to his mate.

Bee and I had said little until we reached the broad pike.

"Want to race?" she called back to me from her point of vantage a few lengths ahead. Now I knew what that meant. Bee was the better rider, for instead of taking a course of indoor physical culture she had adopted golf, tennis and a bicycle as the most enjoyable method of obtaining exercise and health.

"Trying to tease," I said. "But go ahead. I'll do my best. Want to bet anything?"

"No, not when I am certain of the result," she laughed.

I grinned appreciation and asked: "How far?"

"The two mile post," she cried, and we were off.

Bee sprinted, and so did I. But the distance between us remained about the same, and precluded conversation, even had not the pace attained the same end. Soon the sprockets were singing a steady song to pebbles that spun backward from the rubber tires. We were running at 20 miles an hour down the best piece of road in the section.

I settled to a steady speed, not quite my best, and Bee did the same, saving strength for the last half mile. The wind whistled a merry tune to the time we kept with our pedals. A covey of partridges fled with sharp chirps at our whirlwind advance. I felt and noticed little else beside the trim figure, with flying wisps of brown hair, just ahead of me.

Of a sudden Bee began to draw ahead of me.

"Put your heart into the game," she called back to me, with her head half turned as she spoke. She was laughing out of pure enjoyment of the exercise, and perhaps my probable discomfiture. My pride was nettled, and it must have increased my strength to a considerable degree. Soon I was close behind her, and with the wheels buzzing like mad things, I was even. One more spur, and by a tremendous effort I was ahead!

"Get your hand in the game," I called back, paraphrasing her own slang. "My heart and your hand." I added by the force of an inspiration, "a match race!"

The second mile post was not more than a hundred yards ahead, and I was beginning to believe I should win. I had no time to look back, fearing a loss of my little gain.

But neither was to have the victory. Bee's front wheel advanced slowly, but surely, until it was even with my handle-bars, and as we arrived opposite the post, we were side by side.

It was a tie!

"You got your hand in," I laughed later under the trees where we were seated.

"Yes," she agreed.

"And my whole heart was in it," I added, cautiously.

The blue eyes looked into mine and seemed to read what was there. And then in the fear that my shyness would return, I said quickly, incoherently:

"Your hand, my heart, a match, the tie—Bee!" and—

Well, our bicycle will accompany us on the honeymoon, even though it be as excess baggage.

Profitable Investment.

In 1875 it was communicated to the British government that the Khedive Ismail Pasha, being in desperate need of money, was willing to sell his 176,602 shares of stock in the Suez Canal company at a fair price. Disraeli was then premier and he didn't hesitate a minute. England paid $20,000,000 for the Khedive's holdings, or at the rate of $113.60 per share. Since then the dividends on its purchase have aggregated $24,000,000 and to-day the shares are selling at $700 each. This shows a profit on the transaction of $103,600,000.
